July 13, 1999

Dear Competitor:

Thank you for taking the time this summer to attend the 1999 National Rifle and Pistol Championships. The NRA, CMP, the Ohio National Guard and the US Army Reserve have endeavored to provide you a meaningful shooting event, one worthy of being a National Championship.

One of the most frequently heard statements during the Matches is that NRA is making an enormous profit as evidenced by the entry fees. That is not true. With an annual budget nearing $1.2 million, entry fees will never produce a profit for the NRA. Every dollar in entry fees goes right back into the conduct of the National Matches. The chart on the following page shows where each entry dollar goes. For example, Range Operations consumes 30¢ of every entry dollar. There are many other costs borne by the NRA that few recognize. Since the transition to a civilianized Civilian Marksmanship Program began in the early 1990's, costs to the sponsors of the National Matches have varied in amount and category. The NRA has not raised entry fees in the past four years, while at the same time increasing the awards purse; providing a new, more reliable computer system; and absorbing an increasing percentage of the operating and minimum wage increases.

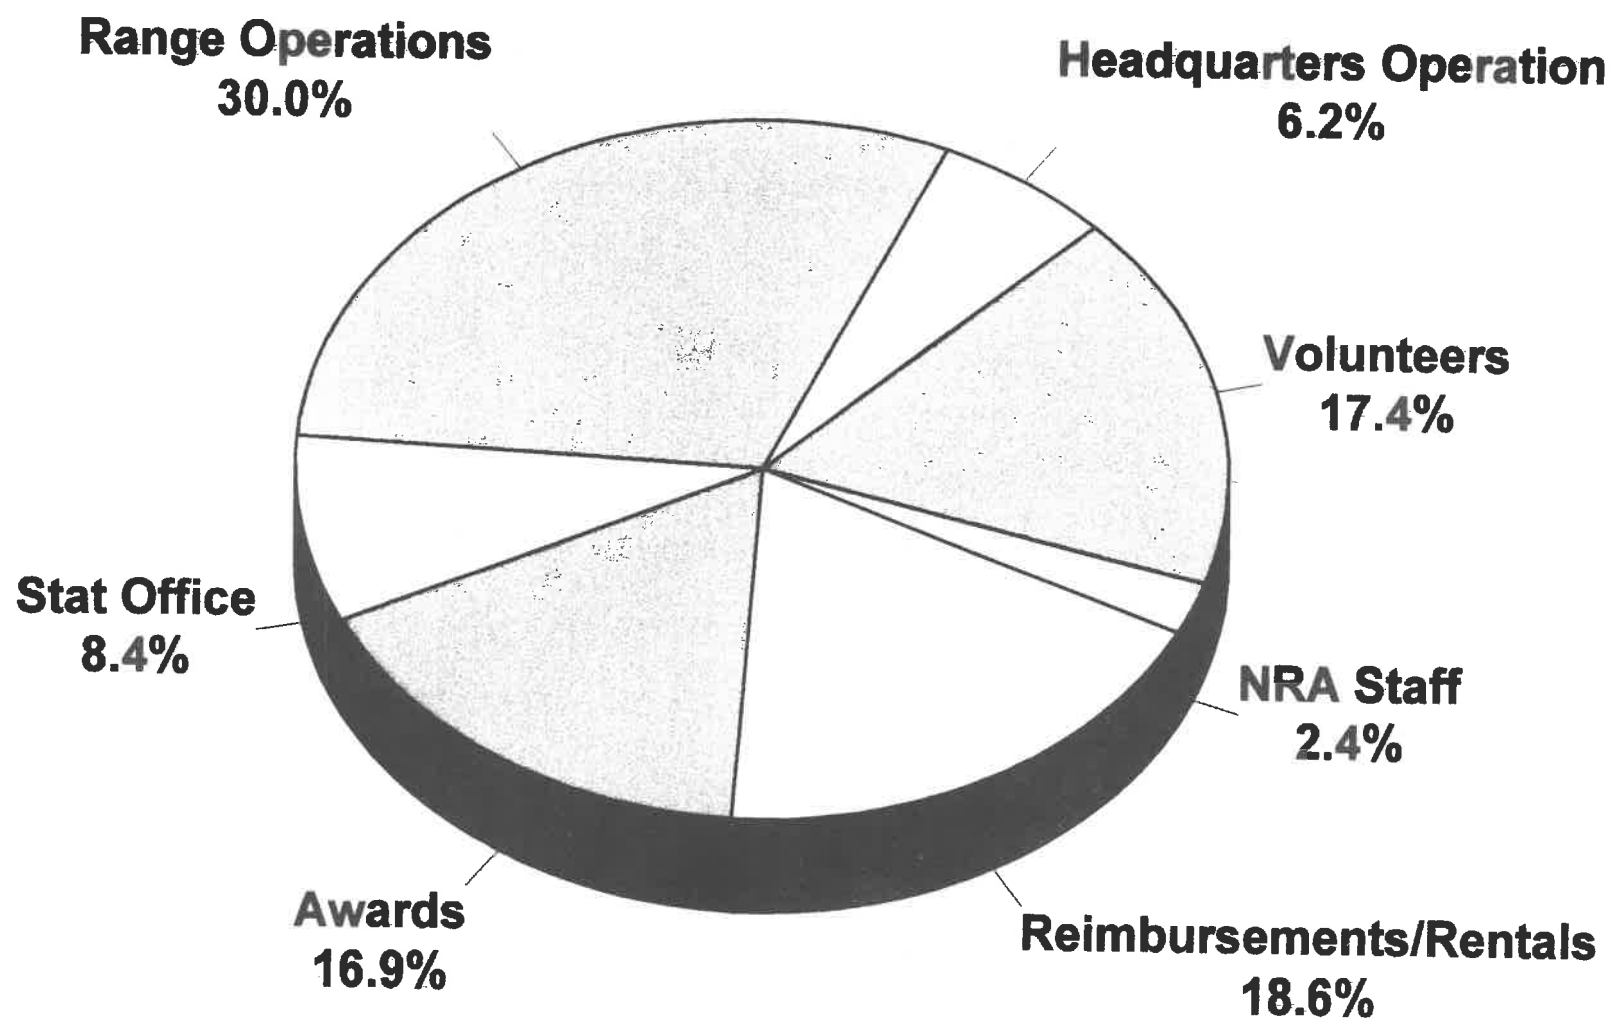

There have also been numerous questions about learning in advance any changes either to housing or in processing or food services. And the list goes on. A subscription to "Shooting Sports, USA" would answer many of these questions. For those with access to the Internet, visit "www.nra.org." Each month there is a Competitors' Corner in "Shooting Sports" and on the Internet. Changes to the National Matches are always addressed in this forum.

Sincerely,

M.S. Gilchrist
National Matches Coordinator
