

MIT TROPHY

The MIT Trophy was donated by the MIT Pistol and Rifle Club in 1981 and awarded to the Free Pistol Individual Champion at the NRA Intercollegiate Pistol Championships. It has a three-tiered black painted walnut base which elevates a free pistol shooter in lucite block. The block is cornered with four pillars and topped with another black painted walnut block. On top of this sits a silver plated bowl with a pewter eagle.

Match Conditions:

- 1981 Champion of the Free Pistol Individual event with 60 shots at 50 feet indoors
- 1989 Fired at 50 meters.
- 1990 Fired at 50 meters to include a finals match.
- 1995 Fired at 50 feet.
- 1998 Fired at 50 meters.

* Reason for different scores was because of an ineligible individual at the Nationals causing the qualifying score of Mr. Hughes to end up just below the cut-off. When the error was eventually found, it was determined that the score Mr. Hughes fired at the Nationals (initially for team score only) would be eligible for trophy honors.
