

RUMBOLD TROPHY

Match #432

TRO-095

The Rumbold Trophy is a unique four-footed punch bowl. The bowl, hand-hammered of solid silver from silver dollars, is surmounted on opposite sides of its rim by two crouching figures of American Indians, one an early eastern tribesman and the other an early western. The trophy was donated to the NRA in 1910 by Brigadier General Frank M. Rumbold, Adjutant General of Missouri, for presentation to the winning team in the Championship Regimental Team Match fired in the National Matches. In 1937, the match for this trophy was first called the "Rumbold Trophy Match" and opened to teams from any NRA-affiliated organization.

Match Conditions:

- 1910 - Competition in the Championship Regimental Team Match between teams of six firing members, Team Captain and Coach. 10 shots per firing member, 200 yards, standing, and 600 yards prone with the Service Rifle. Teams to represent regimental units of the U.S. Services and the National Guard.
